

17th INUIT STUDIES CONFERENCE

UNIVERSITÉ DU QUÉBEC EN ABITIBI-TÉMISCAMINGUE

VAL-D'OR, QUEBEC, CANADA

The Université du Québec en Abitibi-Témiscamingue (UQAT) will play host to the 17th Inuit Studies Conference, during the last week of October 2010 (dates to be confirmed). The event will be held at the First Peoples Pavilion on the UQAT Val-d'Or campus in Quebec, Canada.

UQAT is proud to invite you to the 17th Inuit Studies Conference, the theme of which will be The Inuit and the Aboriginal World. We would like to suggest an exploration of the sub-theme of relations between the Inuit peoples and the other Aboriginal peoples around the world, in particular their neighbours, the First Nations and the Samí. Organizations which represent the Inuit (Inuit Circumpolar Conference, Greenland self-government, Inuit Tapiriit Kanatami, Makivik Corporation and others) have a determining role to play in the future of these peoples and their interactions have local, regional, and international consequences. The further sub-themes of education, teacher training and academic success are also proposed in order to establish a connection with current leadership, as well as with the leadership of tomorrow, upon which the future of the Inuit will be built.

The call for proposals by interested presenters will soon be open. Please check our website at the address below over the coming weeks, for more information.

<http://www.uqat.ca/isc-cei-2010>

Welcome!

Suzy Basile, M.A.

Aboriginal Project Manager

suzy.basile@uqat.ca or 1 (819) 874-3837, ext. 336

Toll free: 1-866-891-8728